

ABOUT US

Designed collaboratively by the Department of Journalism and Media Management and the Miami Herbert Business School, this 32-credit Master of Science program in Media Management offers a unique combination of general business and specialized media industry courses. The program begins every fall and lasts one year for full-time students and two years for part-time students. Most required classes are held on Saturdays or weekday evenings to provide flexibility for working professionals. A joint J.D./M.S. program with the Law School and a Graduate Certificate in Media Management are also available.

MEDIA MANAGEMENT M.S. GRADUATE PROGRAM

CONTACT INFO

visit us at
com.miami.edu/ms

Department of Journalism and Media Management
School of Communication
5100 Brunson Drive
Coral Gables, FL 33146

dupagnem@miami.edu

CAREER PATHS

This program prepares students for advanced opportunities in rapidly changing domestic and global media industries by focusing on recent developments and challenges in media technology, content, measurement, and policy. On-campus media positions at the Media Management Association, Orange Umbrella, UMTV, and WVUM allow students to practice their management skills. Students may also explore internship opportunities in the local media industry. Careers involve all aspects of the media business, including news and entertainment programming, research and analytics, and content distribution.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

- Completed application form
- Three letters of recommendation
- Official transcripts
- 500-word goal statement
- TOEFL scores for international students

Competitive assistantships are available to M.S. applicants.

